

Dear Bob/Kid Rock,

My name is Spencer Southern — a fellow American, inventor, and believer in liberty, fairness, and honoring the people who make this country great.

I'm writing to you directly because I believe I've solved the very issue you've stood up against:

The modern ticket scalping epidemic.

Scalpers, bots, and big tech have hijacked the live event world. Fans get robbed, artists lose trust in the system, and nobody seems to have a real fix — until now.

Through a breakthrough I've developed called the Mint-to-Limbo Protocol, I've created a way to permanently shut down ticket scalping using blockchain without forcing fans to use crypto or jump through hoops.

It works like this:

- Every ticket is minted to a secure “limbo wallet” that no one can touch
- It can only be activated by scanning a physical ticket + matching a real ID
- If someone tries to flip, duplicate, or spoof it — the token burns
- Fans win. Artists win. America wins.

This isn't just an idea — I've filed it. I'm prototyping it. And I want you to be the first artist in the world to know about it.

I'm asking for one thing:

☎ A phone call, Zoom, or in-person meeting — so I can show you how it works.

You've stood up for free speech, truth, and the working class. I'm standing up for your fans, and every person who's been ripped off by scalpers. Together, we can do more than complain — we can fix it.

You can reach me at:

☎ [Your phone number]

✉ [Your email address]

Or I can send you a full briefing, demo, or whatever format you prefer.

With total respect and genuine urgency,

– Spencer Southern

Inventor, Builder, Patriot

(P.S. I built this with God in mind — and it's only the beginning.)